The meeting focused on reviewing the current status of the project, outlining the next steps in its development, and evaluating the methodology used to produce its results.

Particular attention was given to assessing the content of the draft guidebook “Rise Up: Career Development Strategies for Migrant Women”, which represents the first key output of the project. Designed for adult women who are forced migrants from Ukraine, the guide received positive feedback regarding both its quality and relevance.

The meeting concluded with a shared recognition of the significant quantitative and qualitative progress achieved thus far.

Participants expressed enthusiasm about the upcoming publication of the guidebook on the websites of the project partners. This milestone reflects our shared commitment to supporting migrant women in advancing their professional careers in the host countries: Turkey, Poland, Germany, and the Czech Republic.
